Wirsta, Tymko show Elk Point 4-H champions

VICKI BROOKER
Review Staff

Elk Point 4-H Beef Club members Kailey Wirsta and Heidi Tymko topped their second 4-H show in two weeks when they showed the Grand ChampionSteer and Grand Champion Female, respectively, at the club's Achievement Day on Saturday. Kailey's Grand Champion steer was chosen from a field of 10 to win the award sponsored by St. Paul and District Co-op's Elk Point Branch, while the Family Ties Angus award for Reserve Champion Steer went to Heidi.

Their standings were reversed in the Champion Female Class, where Heidi's yearling heifer advanced from first in the Heifer Championship class to win the Grand Champion Female award from Crestview Angus, while Kailey, whose yearling had placed second and whose two-year-old cow with calf at side edged out Heidi's pair in the Two-Year-Old class, won the Reserve Champion Female trophy sponsored by K-Cow Ranch. Also in the ring for the final round of judging for Championship Females were Lexi Wirsta's first prize pair from the Three-Year-Old Cow with Calf at Side and Heidi's second prize three-year-old pair.

This year for the first time, there was also a class for this year's calves produced by the two- and three-year-old cows, with the top two heifers shown by Kailey Wirsta and the third by Heidi Tymko, while the first and third place bull calves were shown by Lexi Wirsta and the second by Macey-Ann Marcoux.

Saturday's show started off with a round of card judging by all 11 members, with Lexi Wirsta placing first and Jayci Marcoux second in the Junior age group, Macey-Ann Marcoux first and Kailey Wirsta second in the Intermediate, and Heidi Tymko first and Ashley Bristow second in the Senior division.

Members were judged on grooming during the Steer Conformation class, with Lexi Wirsta and Jayci Marcoux again placing first and second in the Junior group, Kailey Wirsta first and Macey-Ann Marcoux second in Intermediate, and Heidi Tymko first and Roy Tymko second in the Senior.

Showmanship, which Conformation, Grooming and Showmanship judge Josie Pashulka said was "One of the most important classes of the day," was the final competition. Lexi Wirsta and Jayci Marcoux again placed first and second in the Junior group, with Kailey Wirsta first and Dallas Bristow second in Intermediate and Heidi Tymko first and Ashley Bristow second in the Senior group.

THE 2016 ELK POINT 4-H GRAND CHAMPION STEER was shown by Kailey Wirsta, who accepted the St. Paul and District Co-op, Elk Point Branch, buckle from meat department trainee Cy Romanovich and the big red ribbon from Elk Point Branch manager Mark Gormley, while Conformation, Grooming and Showmanship judge Josie Pashulka added her congratulations.

Art, music ventures 'Outside the Lines' at FGM

VICKI BROOKER
Review Staff

Talent ran rampant at F. G. Miller High School on Thursday night with a kaleidoscope of art and music showcased at the annual "Outside the Lines".

Six rows of tables, each half the length of the gymnasium, were overflowing with art provided by prolific students, some with 10 or more items on display. Styles ranged from pointillism to perspective, expressionism to comic book pages and media ranged from watercolour to pastels to charcoal.

Woodwork, pottery and other crafts from the Industrial Arts department and a series of calendars done with digital photography were also displayed.

A constantly changing series of young musicians took the stage along with instructor Shane Larmand to delight a sizeable audience with their songs. Everyone from a very young drummer and beginning guitarists to the well-practiced King Size Players had an opportunity to entertain with their ever-increasing talents throughout the evening, with a number of vocalists also featured in the show.

YOUNG TALENT BY THE STAGE FULL- F. G. Miller's Shane Larmand guided an impressive lineup of young musicians through an evening concert as part of last Thursday's 'Outside the Lines' talent presentation.

Subdivision completion work gets underway

VICKI BROOKER
Review Staff

Elk Point town council received an updated schedule at last week's meeting for the second phase of the Centennial Subdivision. Nikiforuk Construction moved onto the site in midweek, as the update indicated, to move excess clay to the stock pile, install a power crossing for Atco Electric and touch up any road core or grading that remains from the work done last fall.

Road construction is slated to start June 6, beginning with the concrete work before installing road base and asphalt. Atco is scheduled to start on their part of the project in early July, followed by Alta Gas at the beginning of August, according to the project engineer.

Groundwork is also beginning on the new RCMP detachment at the west end of Railway Ave., with some concerns regarding where to stockpile the topsoil. Mayor Parrish Tung noted that the storage of clay and topsoil is a problem in all communities where construction is underway.

Construction of a bulk water fill station has been put on hold while an agreement is redrafted regarding the project, but it is still expected that the facility will be operational by late this fall.

In the interest of encouraging additional development, Coun. Lorne Young suggested that the town consider offering an initiative for new building construction on industrial lots, infill development and in the downtown business district, similar to the initiatives now in place for the new phase of the Centennial Subdivision. Coun. Dwayne Yaremkevich felt that initiatives should be tailored to individual developments, but with a standardized procedure. This matter was sent to the Public Works Committee meeting for further discussion.

Also deferred to the Public Works meeting was a letter from a local resident suggesting a number of suggestions for town beautification and trail enhancement.

Auto Show

Elk Point Auto Club has their annual Show and Shine coming up on June 4, and asked council if they would once again waive sales licensing for vendors and sales booth holders for that day. Council agreed to do so.

Seniors Week

The Town and County will once again kick off Seniors' Week with a pancake breakfast, which is slated for Sunday, June 5 at the Seniors' Recreation Centre from 8 to 10 a.m.

Fire Ban

With the provincial fire ban lifted, the Town of Elk Point agreed to lift the local ban as well, recognizing that this may have to be put back in place if more hot, dry weather returns.

Health Advisory Council

Mayor Tung once again encouraged council to consider joining the Lakeland Communities Health Advisory Council as a local representative. Few applications had been received by the cut-off date, and the deadline has been extended. The mayor has been part of the council since its beginning, but had declined to return for another term so that someone else could participate.

READY TO SERVE - AND THIS TIME IT'S NOT AN EMERGENCY! Prairie Emergency Medical Services and Elk Point Victim Services combined forces to celebrate Canadian EMS Week by serving up a barbecue lunch last Thursday, with the proceeds going to support Victim Services.

Munched!

'Bugged' doesn't even cover this situation - we're being MUNCHEd!

It was great to welcome a profusion of fresh green leaves earlier this month, well ahead of the time the country turns green many years, but those glossy signs of spring are quickly being decimated by some very nasty and voracious tent caterpillars.

Last year, we escaped much of the defoliation, which somehow came to a screeching halt just north of the junction of Highways 41 and 29, but this year, it seems as if that was just a stopping point along the way, with trees lining the highway heading west from that point already shredded by the very hungry caterpillars. Patches along the roads in all directions are showing more munching every day, and the little villains are here in town as well.

It's fortunate that we had a few weeks to enjoy the landscape turning green, because it will be a while before these worms turn in another direction and the denuded trees can muster up a second crop of leaves.

YOUR VIEWS

TCT "the ideal Canada 150 Project," says trail advocate

The coming year, 2017 marks both the 150th anniversary of Confederation and the 25th anniversary of the Trans Canada Trail. Combine the two and you have the perfect Sesquicentennial project. To that end, long-time trail advocate Sheila Thompson will be traveling the province this summer asking the question: "What are you planning for 2017?"

Once connected, Alberta will have 3,000 kilometres of Trans Canada Trail. It is also the hub of all three branches of the trail leading from sea to sea to sea. The east-west main route enters from Saskatchewan near the North Saskatchewan River and exits over the Great Divide at Elk Pass, south of Banff. Athabasca has both the northern land route and water route. The land route follows the historic Peace River Trail to the northwest. The water route follows the Athabasca - Slave River system through Fort McMurray, Fort Chipewyan, Wood Buffalo National Park and exits at Fort Smith in the N.W.T.

On Saturday, June 4., Thompson will kick off her summer of adventure at the Alberta-Saskatchewan border at the North Saskatchewan River on Hwy. 17. "It is a fitting place to begin because this is where the original TCT began back in the fur trade era. Downstream are Frenchman Butte, Fort Pitt and the Battlefords; upstream you find Fort George-Buckingham House, Victoria Settlement and Metis Crossing. The area is steeped in history and adventure." Thompson says her favorite trips involve "paddling and pedaling - canoeing downstream from one site to another, then cycling back. This combines exploring historic sites, enjoying beautiful countryside and getting a good workout."

Thompson will host a blog at tctsummerblog.wordpress.com. There she will post travel stories and a schedule of summer events for anyone who wants to join her along the way. On Sunday, June 5 she will be paddling from Elk Point to Fort George-Buckingham House and cycling back to Elk Point on the Iron Horse Trail.

Million-dollar rain makes messy ball fields

The million-dollar rain this past weekend sure made thing messy down in Wainwright when the Bantam Sox traveled there to play in a provincial round robin, the boys winning one out of three. Blame it on the rain, but the truth is the two games that they lost were against two very good teams. In the first game against Camrose, the boys barely got on base, in fact their pitcher pitched his very first-ever no-hitter. Only two of our guys got on base with a walk and neither one made it home. Starter Dustyn 'Dust Pan' Pankiw did an awesome job of pitching, the score when he left the game was only 3 to 0, but the bullpen was unable to match his performance, the final in this one 10 to zip in five innings.

It was Corbin 'Crusher' Ockerman getting the call to start the second game, this one was much closer, the Sox leading 7 to 6 after at the end of the forth inning when 'Crusher' was maxed out on pitch count, the bullpen unable to hold them, and our guys only managed to score one more, the final 15 to 8 in favor of the Twins.

On Sunday morning the sun came out and the boys came out with a strong 18 to 0 win over the Fort Saskatchewan Red Sox, Kaiden 'K Rock' Evans-Anderson starting this one on the hill and getting 8 K's in 3 innings worked, closer Grady 'Gravy Train' Frazer with three strikeouts in two innings and never allowed a run. Much better batting in this one, everyone on the team getting on base and crossing the plate at least once.

In peewee boys action this past week, two undefeated teams took to the field Thursday night when the 2-0 Elizabeth Settlement team came to play the 3-0 Peewee Sox. It was a great game with lots of great defensive plays. The boys threw out a couple of runners at home plate and Evan 'Batman' Ockerman picked off his first base runner of the year with a nice move to first. The boys had a tougher time with some hard throwing pitching again, but Charlie 'Angel' Rogal, Jaden 'Jet Stream' Van Maarion and Brandon Goertzen all had good nights at the plate. The Sox out hit Elizabeth Settlement but came up short on the score, losing 10-6. We head back to Elizabeth Settlement in a couple of weeks and are looking forward to another great game. This week, Cold Lake is in town Thursday for hopefully another great evening of ball. Hope to see you out there!

Now for the K A Campbell quote of the week, "A hungry dog hunts best." Last week's answer to: "There is an old saying that money can't buy happiness. If it could, I would buy myself four hits every game." - Pete Rose

Fifty years of 4-H in Elk Point to be celebrated on Farmers' Day

VICKI BROOKER
Review Staff

This June marks 50 years since the first Achievement Day for Elk Point 4-H Beef Club, which was organized in 1965 with Ray Hellquist as its first leader. After many years as a beef club, Elk Point 4-H evolved into a Multi Club in the 1980s, and remained in that format until recently, when the Beef Project split off, becoming the Elk Point 4-H Beef Club, while the Multi Club continues to operate with projects ranging from sheep to canine to crafts.

The Elk Point Saddle Slickers light horse club also enjoyed a number of years of achievement and learning.

The present and past members, leaders and families involved with the three clubs will come together on Friday, June 10 at Stoney Lake Hall to celebrate and reminisce about the achievements and growth of the clubs and their members.

The event will begin at 4 p.m. with plenty of time to check out the displays of memorabilia before everyone enjoys a potluck supper at 6 p.m., followed by a fashion show of 4-H shirts and jackets from the past, kids' games and talking about old times.

Today's 4-H members and leaders are looking forward to hosting their counterparts of the past, and hope that many of them will come back and enjoy this look back into the club's long and successful history as a vital part of Elk Point's agricultural community.
